DETAILED ACTION

1. This is a response to the amendment, filed 9/7/04.
2. Claims 1-26 are pending.
3. The IDS, filed 5/7/02, has been considered.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 9/7/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Felciano does not teach modifying the content object and displaying the content object based on the local information at the client. The Examiner disagrees. Felciano teaches modifying and displaying a HTML document (2/9-27) based on user profile information associated with the local client (2/28-34). Felciano teaches that the HTML document can be modified by insertion/deletion of content, based on the local user profile information (2/30-34). Accordingly, this claimed subject matter is taught by Felciano.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Felciano et al (US 6,052,730).

As to claims 1,14:

Art Unit: 2187

7. Felciano teaches the claimed method and apparatus comprising: client receiving a content object over a network connection (2/13); the client, prior to allowing the content object to be dynamically displayed, examining the content object and changing a portion of the content object to reflect information stored locally to the client (modify document, 2/25-30); and displaying the content objected changed on the local information at the client (open document; 2/10-21).

As to claim 2,12,13,15,25,26:

8. Felciano teaches the content object includes a program that uses the information to indicate how the content object is to be generated at the client (profile info, 2/20-35).

As to claim 3,16:

9. Felciano teaches the modifying the program to change a representation of the content object that is to be dynamically generated (modify document; 2/20-49, 4/1-35).

As to claim 4,17:

10. Felciano teaches modifying the program to change a representation of the content object based on whether an individual is subscribed to one or more other objects (4/1-20).

As to claim 5,18:

11. Felciano teaches modifying the program to change a representation of the content object based on whether one or more objects are stored in the client's cache (4/7-35).

As to claims 6,7,19,20:

12. Felciano teaches replacing at least one string/program in the content object (4/7-35).

As to claim 8,21:

13. Felciano teaches determining whether an individual has subscribed to one or more additional objects that are to be displayed when dynamically generating the display (linked files; 3/40-48, 7/5-23).

As to claim 9,22:

14. Felciano teaches determined whether the objects are stored with the client (7/5-23).

As to claim 10-11,23,24:
